Michigan's Outlook for Wheat Grand Rapids, but a brother. Next Year Unfavorable.

WHAT THE CROP REPORT SAYS

Farm Statistics Show Farmers Are Not Plenting So Much-Dry Weather Has Done Damage.

Laserso, Nov. 12 .- The Michigan crop report for November, which was satted today, says that the area seeded in wheat this fall in the state is but 95 per cent. of the area seeded in 1801. In condition of growing andivitality wheat is only 87 per cent. of average years. This is due to the fact that dry weather and insects have injured the crops in almost every one of the southern four tiers of counties. Nearly 80 per cent, of the correspondents from that section report injury by insects.

In October a total of 2,348,965 bushels of wheat were marketed by farmers. The total number of bushels, reported harvested in the three past months. is 5,441,139, or 5,550 bushels more than for the same months last year. Farm statistics reported by super-visors last spring, show a total of 143,- 164 farms in the state, a decrease of 2,835. The area of improved lands in farms is 8,328,189 acres, an increase of 72,004 acres over 1891. The area of unimproved lands is 4,392,130 acres, and the total area in farms, 12,720,619 acres, a decrease from 1891 of 141,845 acres. The average size of farms is 88.41 acres, or less than one acre more than last year.

The corn crop is considerably below the average, the estimate for the state being 49 bushels of ears per scre. Clover seed yielded 90 bushels per acre, about three-fourths of the yield of last year. Potatoes will yield 59 bushels per acre for the state, or 31 per cent of of an average crop.

THAT FOOT BALL TEAM. U. of M. Eleven is in a Demoralized Condition.

Ans Annoa, Nov. 12.-Those ab sentees who were waiting till after election to return from their summer's vacation are now coming in, and it will soon be possible to announce the exact attendance for this year. Comparison can then be made with Hervard and our claim to the largest attendance of any university in the land be either es-tablished or refuted.

The first Cornell game was played Tuesday at Utics, N. Y. Returns from the game were received here before 7 o'clock, proclaiming Cornell's victory and Michigan's failure to score. While it was noped here that the team would at least score, it is considered a good showing that they held their opponents down to 44 points. The Cornell Sun, published by the students of the university, give the "westerners" great eredit for the plucky and steady game they played. It is evident to the most inexperienced eye that the team has waned wonderfully in strength during the last two weeks and no imaginable reason exists why they should not make even a better showing in the second game with Palmer and Congressman Springer. the Red and White on Thanksgiving day than on Tuesday last.

The game with Albion last Saturday week was not especially interesting save that it showed the indisputable evidences of the progress the 'Varsity The features of the game were Albion's end plays, blocking and tackling. The latest among students is a 'Varsity brass band. It is composed of about thirty students, directed by Gerald Collins, a graduate of '91 and now teacher on the cornet in the new school of music. The band will furnish music on all public occasions and will give public concerts. During the fall and meing open air concerts will be given on the campus, and during the spring vacation the band will make a tour of the college towns in the state and some of the larger cities.

Monday Wining Remenyl, the great violinist, and a concert company will appear in University hall. This will be the second entertainment offered in the Students Lecture association course.

One of the war veterans of the state is Daniel E. Stoneburner of Oakdale Park. Mr Stoneburner is an old citizen, and everybody in this section knows him. He went through all the hardships inclient to a soldier's life.

Like many others in active service, when exposed to the inclemency of the weather, he was sittlesen down and sent home a physical wreek. His story, as given to an interviewe the other day, is as follows:

"While in the service," said he, "I contracted pneamonia in its worst form The physicians said I would probably sooner or later die of consumption, as the condition of my lungs invited the disease, so I was sent home to recover or die.

"When I returned, I found that I had contracted rheumatism also. I spent several hundred dollars and went to a great many physicians in an endeavor to obtain relief if not a cure. The doctors told me that my lungs were in bad shape, and that the trouble would kill me in time. I was not only suffering, thefore, with boddly pain, but with all the positive features of consumption. I found that nothing could be done for me by the physicians I went to.

"In this condition of mind, I was prevailed upon by friends who were being benefitted by the Copeland and Graham and try them. I called and had a friendly talk with the physician in charge, and being impressed with his clear appreciation of my case, decided to try him at least for a menth.

"I can never sufficiently thank the friends who sent me there, so great and so unexpected has been my improvement.
